Applications for Admission to the Continuing Education in Geomedicine
Academic Year 2023/2024

1. The program is promoted by

Universidade de Évora - Escola de Saúde e Desenvolvimento Humano

2. Coordenador(a)

Manuel Ramiro Dias Pastorinho

3. Program description

The nature of the subject to be taught in this microcreditation - a topic still rarely present in international university curricula and practically absent from the national offer - together with the recommended inverted teaching method (with the prior preparation of content, the introduction and problematization of case studies and presentations of scientific articles by students) allow not only to obtain new knowledge about the effects of the geological environment on human health but also provide the student with a frame of reference in which to place basic empirical knowledge, guaranteeing its consolidation. It is aimed at graduates and professionals in the fields of Natural Sciences and Medical and Health Sciences.

This microcredit benefits from the PRR Adult Support Program.
