10. Selection Process

Factor A (pa – 0,25)

Weighting criterion for the proximity of the 2nd cycle course of studies - Master's degree - to the 3rd cycle course to which the candidate is applying, translated by the following values:

Weighting Designation

5 Master in Economics;

4 Master in Management;

3 Master in Mathematics, Physics or Engineering;

2 Masters in other Social Science areas;

1 Other Masters.

Notes: (i) only the highest classification achieved by the candidate is scored whenever it falls into more than one category and (ii) in the case of candidates without a Master's degree, the classification to be attributed to Factor A is 0 (zero).

Factor B (pb – 0,50)

Average Classifications of Master's and Bachelor's degrees or legal equivalents, on a scale of 0 to 20 values. Holders of an academic, scientific or professional CV recognized as proving their capacity for admission will be given, for this purpose, a rating of 10 to 20 points.

Observations: (i) the arithmetic average of the final classifications obtained in the bachelor's and master's degrees is considered and (ii) in the case of candidates without a Master's degree, the classification to be attributed to Factor B is 10 (ten).

Factor C (pc – 0,25)

Assessment of the academic, scientific, technical and professional curriculum, translated by the following values:

Weighting Designation

5 Highly relevant scientific publications (indexed in ISI or SCOPUS), R&D projects and/or relevant professional experience in the area (e.g. management positions in public or private institutions), including consideration of a motivation letter;

4 Scientific publications with some relevance (indexed in other indices) and R&D projects, including consideration of a motivation letter;

2 Professional experience, although not in the area, including consideration of a motivation letter;

1 No scientific publications or professional experience, including consideration of a motivation letter.

Notes: (i) only the highest classification achieved by the candidate is scored whenever it falls into more than one category; (ii) in the analysis of this factor, only situations duly proven by documentation will be considered and (iii) failure to present a motivation letter (in Portuguese or English) that fits the PhD in Economics within the candidate's personal and professional development objectives implies exclusion from the application.

Calculation formula applied :

The application grade is a classification on a scale of 0 to 200, the result of which is rounded to the nearest tenth, considering as one tenth a value not less than 0.05, calculated by applying the formula:

$$NC = (A/5 \times pa + B/20 \times pb + C/5 \times pc) \times 200$$
