3. Program description

The Master's in International Relations and European Studies is an interdisciplinary course that aims to provide students with an in depth analysis of the main actors, structures and processes that shape global politics. Throughout the first year, the Master's program addresses the main themes of International Relations and the theoretical perspectives for its analysis, with special emphasis on the study of the European Union as a political system and as an actor in a globalized world. The classes are designed to respect a balance between the practical and theoretical dimensions of the two core areas of the course, in order to provide students with a diverse set of skills, both academically and professionally. The second year is dedicated to the dissertation, allowing students to deepen their research and apply the knowledge acquired to an area of International Relations or European Studies, in away that respects their personal and professional interests.

4. Career opportunities

Graduates of the Master's in International Relations and European Studies acquire a wide range of theoretical and practical skills that enable them to pursue careers in both the public and private sectors — namely in government departments, public administration, intergovernmental organizations (IGOs), European Union institutions and bodies, non-governmental organizations (NGOs), political parties, lobbying groups, and international business.

Upon completion of the program, graduates are well-prepared to pursue a diverse range of professional paths, including diplomacy, consultancy, teaching, and research.

7. General conditions of access and admission

i Legal conditions for access to the cycle of studies leading to the master degree

Those who meet the following conditions may apply to the cycle of studies that leads to the master degree:

- Holders of the bachelor degree or legal equivalent;
- Holders of a foreign academic degree dully recognised as satisfying the objectives identical to the bachelor degree by the relevant scientific body of the higher education institution they wish to be admitted to;
- Holders of an academic, scientific or professional curriculum vitae that is recognized as attesting to the capacity to carry out this cycle of studies by the relevant scientific body of the higher education institution they wish to be admitted to.

ii Conditions of access to the cycle of studies at the Universidade de Évora

On the application date, the undergraduate students must satisfy conditions that guarantee the conclusion of their undergraduate degree until the 30th of October of the admission year. The admission and enrollment of these students is conditioned on the conclusion of the degree until this date, and the enrollment is canceled if the student does not complete the degree within that period

During the first application phase, students who have a maximum of 6 curricular units or 36 ECTS missing for conclusion of their degree can apply for the 2nd cycle; in the 2nd application phase students can apply if they have at most 3 curricular units missing and in the 3rd application phase if they have at most one curricular unit missing

The previous condition does not apply to students with a curriculum that reveals professional or scientific experience, which can be recognized by the competent scientific body, as attesting the students ability to carry out the masters degree/post-graduation, provided that the student required that recognition in the application process

iii Specific admission conditions

May apply for the MSc in International Relations and European Studies graduates in Social Sciences and Humanities, Law and Political Science and Economics.

Under the terms of the regulations, the 2nd cycle programme is also open to:

- Holders of a foreign higher academic degree awarded following a 1st cycle of studies, provided that it is organised in accordance with the Bologna Process by a state adhering to this process;
- Holders of a foreign higher academic degree which the Scientific Council of the School of Social Sciences recognises as satisfying the objectives of the degree;
- Holders of a scientific, academic and professional curriculum that attests to their ability to qualify for the Master's degree, following a curricular assessment to be carried out by the Scientific Council of the School of Social Sciences.
